Fourteen Killed Last Month on Maine Roads

Fourteen persons were killed and 228 injured in motor vehicle traffic accidents in Maine during July. Deaths were eight less than July of a year ago.

The 14 deaths were the result of 13 accidents, eight in rural areas. This brings the total for the seven month period to 49 rural accidents costing 48 lives as compared to 22 urban accidents killing 25 persons. Seven month totals for this year are very close to those of 1949. Last year 63 accidents resulted in 72 killed while this year 62 accidents killed 73 people.

In July seven pedestrians were killed, three in rural areas and four in urban. To make a total of 22 for the seven months—six under last year.

Speeding was reported as the most apparent cause in five of the fatal accidents, drinking drivers in six and faulty pedestrian action in the other two.

This July report has been delayed because of several persons who were critically injured and some of whom are still in hospitals. Our highway record for the year has been reasonably good until the last week of July. Then serious and fatal accidents started happening at a rate that was entirely unexpected.

During the first 15 days of August 18 people have lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents. This is entirely out of proportion with our number of cars and gasoline consumption figures. It can be attributed almost wholly to poor driving practices and a disregard of our motor vehicle laws on the part of the many operators. One of our officers reports that in two hours between 11 P. M. and 1 A. M. he arrested five speeders, one at 75 mph, three at 75 mph, and one at 83 mph.

Too large a proportion of the people still do not seem to realize the serious results of careless habits. Even after the lesson that should have been learned by everyone from the terrible accident at Matamoras in which four children were killed and 26 others injured, drivers can still be seen operating trucks with children riding on top of cabs and cars with children riding on mudguards. I believe that in such instances the courts will take action charging the drivers with operating as to endanger.

Sgt. John deWinter, Director, Division of Traffic and Safety, Maine State Police.

Members of the Men's Brotherhood who can help are asked to report at the Brotherhood booth Saturday afternoon.

All Girl Scouts, and any girl over 10 who would like to help in the Bazaar, please meet at the Community Room at 2 p. m. Friday.

Mrs. Mary Haley returned home to Manchester, N. H., Saturday after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Nora Merrill, and family. Errol Denahue and Miss Winslow Church of Winthrop visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Denahue, and family Sunday evening.

Rain Saturday and Sunday did much to improve camp conditions, although there was some road damage in a Sunday morning down-pour.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roderick and two children returned to Millwater Monday after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roderick and daughter Joan.

PROGRESS IN MEDICINE

A child living down the street from our house was ill with pneumonia. The infection had developed from a cold. The fever climbed and congestion appeared. But nobody in our neighborhood got excited, not even the parents. The doctor was called. Penicillin and one of the sulfonamides were administered. The doctor came away from the bedside cheerfully confident. There was absolutely no cause for undue anxiety, he said. The father went back to work, the mother to her housework. Sisters and brothers went back to play.

The incident awakened memory to the occasion some 25 years ago when another child had fallen critically ill with pneumonia. Then our town was ravaged. A specialist was rushed in from a distant city, oxygen equipment was flown from the State capital. There followed many anxious days for everyone who knew the family. The crisis came. The child died. In the 25 years since then the American medical profession has created some remarkable differences in life-saving and health building.

Pneumonia Whipped
As the doctor drove away from our neighbor's house I had him down to discuss the victory of the new chemotherapy victory over pneumonia. He said his young patient had been ill pneumonia, the mother free and ready to completely free of infection within 48 hours. Then he said an amazing thing. He had a big practice and each week to public health clinics. I happen to know he spends hours and on charity calls yet he said he had even a single case of this desperate pneumonia in the past three years.

What had become of this one time major killer? Penicillin and the allies, now administered routinely in all upper respiratory infections, had done such a wonderful job he said the disease had never had a chance any more to get to the critical lower region of the lungs. This doctor believes also that the general use of these great drugs has killed off a lot of the pneumonia organisms and rendered far less virulent the spots still alive.

Other Diseases Cornered
The killing of the death-bond of pneumonia is but one of the many victories recorded in the recent past by American medicine. Physicists, surgeons, potent researchers and pharmaceutical manufacturers. A baby born in America today has a life expectancy of nearly seventy years, at least fifteen more than would have been expected thirty years ago. Most of the major disease killers have been cornered and rendered far less potent by our medical care, and surgery has advanced to almost unbelievable capabilities.

Land and state medical services working with hospitals, universities, industries and colleges are constantly expanding teaching places where young good hospitalization, medical and surgical services within the reach of most Americans. By next January approximately 100,000 will be covered by plans which pay an average of 80 per cent of hospital expenses. 100,000 will be included in plans which pay the major portion of hospital fees and about 100,000 will be included in post-paid medical care plans.

Voluntary vs. Compulsory
For the price of a package of cigarettes a day any American family can be free from worry over financial difficulties arising from illness. An example of what industry and a great many businessmen are doing in cooperation with their employees and the medical profession is the American Red Cross program which provides to date full hospital care for its 12,000 employees.

Let Others "Save Face"

J. M. KELLAN, Surrey, England, is a junior captain employed by a world-wide air-charter company. He is also a member of the local council of the association which is the pilot's trade union in England.

For two and a half years the company had paid an overseas allowance of around a hundred dollars (but in British currency, of course). They knew that there was much dissatisfaction about this payment and they wanted to remove that dissatisfaction at as little cost to the company as possible. So their first move was to send a letter asking for expressions of opinion among the crew members. This was followed by another letter stating that the majority had agreed to a decided reduction, and also a change in duty. Then came a third letter stating that this amount was limited to certain of the crew. The company obviously was determined to settle matters in its own way.

Carnegie

And now dissension was rife. Everyone felt that a dirty trick had been played by the company; tempers were soaring. Captain Kellan felt that he should do something about it. What he would have preferred doing was to write and tell the company officials that they had offered apples but had given crab-apples. He knew he would have much on his side, and he knew that the company wasn't feeling too comfortable as those officials wondered how their moves would be taken.

But Captain Kellan thought it over. To write as he felt would irritate the officers. He knew that every man had a nobler side, so he decided to appeal to the nobler motives of those who had made these moves, and to write in such a way that would enable them to "save their faces."

So he wrote a friendly personal letter to the managing director, taking the attitude that he wanted to help all concerned, and not just the crew members. The letter is too long to quote here, but, in effect he said that the men were telling each other that "a fast one has been pulled on us." He added that he felt the company would lose a lot of good will if they carried out their intentions. Then he suggested that an unintentional mistake had been made that would cause great harm for the company.

What happened? Well, just what Captain Kellan hoped for. He was thanked and he was told the mistake would be rectified. Had he written as he had at first wanted to write, he says he knows he would have been the sufferer when his name came up for promotion.

THIS WEEK IN Washington

MORE THAN A MILLION in the congress he would accept a measure calling for more powers including atomic regulation, wage and other controls, providing he is given discretion when and how to set them. The administration was definitely opposed to the measure of the House. The measure of California provided for these controls, but putting them on an automatic basis after a 5 per cent jump in the cost of living beyond a certain date. It was pointed out that there was nothing to prevent those who have power to up prices to pay them at a fraction short of the 5 per cent and holding them there indefinitely, thus effectively halting the President from instituting controls. The House accepted this measure, then reversed itself and defeated it.

The atomic energy commission has announced that the E. I. du Pont de Nemours corporation of Delaware has been selected to build and operate plants for the production of the hydrogen bomb. Along the same line Sen. Helen Michigan of Connecticut, chairman of the joint atomic energy commission, held a closed hearing with defense Secretary Louis Johnson and Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and announced "there is no question in my mind but what our atomic stockpile is the chief deterrent to expanded Soviet aggression." He indicated he meant both atomic and hydrogen bombs. Earlier the AEC had submitted a report to congress in which it said that plutonium and uranium, the explosives of the atomic bomb, were produced at the highest rate in history in the first half of 1950.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan has asked something like $25 billion dollars for a 30-year conservation and improvement program for the entire Mississippi river valley. A special agricultural committee has been named to study the program. Secretary Brannan told the committee that his program would deal with flood control, navigation, and their families. At a cost of $250 per month, but paid by the company, half by the employee. In spite of the rapid, wholesome growth of such voluntary medical care plans and the magnificent progress made by our medical profession in its battle against the major disease killers, there are a few people who wish to establish a publicly-controlled compulsory health program and socialize the profession of medicine. Their spokesmen are the same men used by England's Socialists. The English people go "free" medicine and to boot a tax-heavy, freedom-robbing, stagnating, socialist, "generosity" that has reduced the nation virtually to beggary.

Private vs. Government Service

By LITTLE HULL

AT THE TIME this is written, some of the more astute members of our congress are beginning, at long last, to recognize the wisdom of enlisting the services of Japan and West Germany in "our" strategy's fight for life.

The strongest arguments against arming large forces in these nations are that they may turn against us later on, or that they may be conquered by the Red armies which would then acquire all the arms and equipment with which these forces had been supplied. But opposed to this danger, is the fact that right today, if a large force of Chinese Reds joined the North Koreans, they could probably push us out of Korea and invade and conquer Japan. Also it must be remembered that a comparatively insignificant force could take over west Germany without much difficulty. The Germans are unarmed and the U.S. British and French forces there are small.

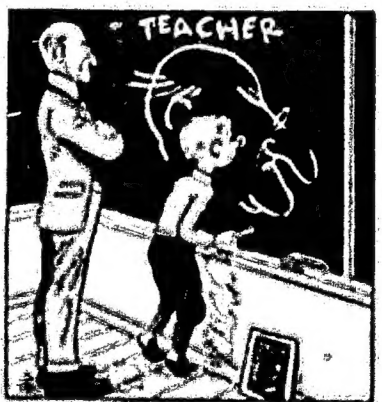

We must—some day—realize that a vast army of Russians and Chinese could conceivably attack Canada and the U.S. through Alaska. With a militarily powerful Japan on our side, and of course a strong U.S. and Canada, such an attempt would not even be considered. But with Japan on the side of our enemy it would be considered.

Now comes the big question: Would a rejuvenated and strong Japan remain a Democracy, or would it eventually join the Communist world? That is anybody's guess. But the Japanese are an extremely independent people; they would abhor Kremlin domination, and they don't like the Chinese. They probably don't love us, but their independence could be maintained only by siding with the Democrats.

It would seem a risk which must be taken; otherwise we must maintain a huge army in Japan to fend off a certainly contemplated invasion from the mainland. The Japanese are an unbelievably industrious people.

"I REMEMBER"
BY THE OLDTIMERS

From John L. Simpson of North Bend, O.: "I remember the first school I attended. It was a one-room log school house (circa 1800) in Harrison county, Kentucky. There was a bench extending the width of the room where disobedient scholars sat and were 'tired' for their offenses by their fellow pupils. If found guilty they would be severely switched by the teacher. If a pupil was caught drawing a picture on his slate, he was ordered to the blackboard and made to draw a similar picture on it, with a round dot in the center, which he had to erase by standing on tip-toe and rubbing it out with the tip of his nose."

From Mrs. Wallace E. Hinkley of Costa Mesa, Calif.: "I remember when my mother used to go out into the field to gather corn just after it had passed the milk stage and would grill it on a handmade griddle. She would then make corn bread—and was it good!"

From Mrs. E. L. Vaughn of Tallahassee, Fla.: "I remember when ladies wore bustles and hoops made out of hickory splits."

SLIPPERY PLAYING CAUSES A. C. TO TIE AT ANDOVER, 3-3

Uninspired baserunning in the second frame and mechanical difficulties afield in the third cost the Bethel A. C. a victory on the hill-and-dale field at Andover last Thursday night.

In the second inning Burt Rolfe reached on an error by Kenny Roberts at second base, Ed Kneeland singled to short left field, and Al Smith doubled to deep right field to score Rolfe from second base. With runners on second and third, Herbie Kitzredge sent a bouncer to short that A. Robert snared and pegged to the plate to nail Kneeland attempting to score Young, the next batter, grounded to Roberts at second who nipped him in a head race to the initial catch. Meanwhile, Smith stood agape and was easily retired, Roberts to Carson, as he set out for the plate.

Three Bethel errors, a passed ball and a wild pitch, together with an Andover hit permitted all the Andover tallies in the third inning.

A promising Bethel rally was all but wiped out by a single error by Rolfe in the third, but further damage to the Andover cause was averted when pitcher Cyr fanned Bennett, Berry and Rolfe in rapid succession. Another rally by the A. C. was effectively throttled in the fifth when with two out, Baker was moved by a Cyr error, Bennett beat out a hard single between the mound and third, but Rolfe grounded the final out of the inning when he bunted to short. p. Robert who tossed to Fox at third for the force on Baker to retire the side.

A. C. BATTLES TO SECOND TIE IN WEEK WITH ANDOVER

The Bethel A. C. traveled to Andover on Tuesday evening for a play-off of last Thursday's tie contest. When the gloom had closed in sufficiently for the umpire to terminate the game after six innings of play the score was knotted at four runs apiece.

Andover scored all four of their runs in the fifth on two hits, three errors and a hit batsmen. Bethel scored a brace of tallies in the second on Berry's single, a walk to Rolfe, and Ed Kneeland's two run double into left-centerfield. Baker's single, a walk and two Andover errors permitted the A. C. to knell the count in top of the sixth.

RAIDERS DROP OCL CONTEST TO BRYANT POND, 3-1

The Raiders were defeated 3-1 in a fast and exciting OCL contest at Thurston Field last Thursday evening.

The single Raider tally was chalked up in the first inning when Glenn Witter, who had reached first on a single to right and advanced to second on a passed ball, crossed the plate when Bucky Berryment mopped up Crockett's grounder at first.

E. Howe, first up for the visitors in the sixth grounded to second, Berryment singled to right but was forced at second by Howe the latter reaching on a fielder's choice. Scamers singled to right and J. Hathaway was passed to fill the bases. Bob Baker executed a desperate but futile dive to stop a House smash to left and when the ball was returned to the infield three runs had been scored with House safely perched on third.

Two twin-killings by the visitors were a major factor in their victory. Glenn Witter was doubled off third for the second out in the fourth and brother Andy nailed at the plate to end the game in the seventh.

The Raiders play an exhibition game with the Bethel A. C. on the Grand Field Saturday afternoon as a Bazaar feature, and on Sunday resume league competition with Andover at Thurston Field.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual - National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare. Walter Lippmann recently made a point of the highest importance. It is simply that this is the first war in which we have ever engaged where we were heavily outnumbered by our potential enemies. In all past conflicts, the great weight of manpower was on our side, and our basic problem was to organize and equip it for battle.

It is true, of course, that we have many allies, active and potential. But it is also true that most of them will not or cannot contribute much in the way of either men or materials to the present fight. The Western European countries are weak and frightened, and they are honeycombed with belligerent communists within. A really effective Western military organization exists only on paper, and, at best, it is years away.

What is the solution? There are many diverse answers—one being: if we still have the time, to build up our allies and ourselves to meet force with force. It is generally believed that Russia respects nothing but force, and that nothing else is of any value or substance. That view may be correct—and if it is correct the world has little to look forward to, war or no war, save a long period in which more and more of our energies and resources and labor must be given to insatiable military machines.

But there are those who believe that, much as force is needed, there are other weapons and that force alone is not enough. Norman Thomas, who has been an implacable foe of communism for many years, is one of them. In an article in the New York Times magazine he writes of the enormous success communism has had in winning recruits to its side. He says, "Within the confines of the USSR Stalin has far more manpower than the U. S. But he has not had to enslave the lives of his own troops to win any of communism's victories since V-J day. The 'fanatical herds' of North Koreans of which we read were heretofore regarded as a peaceful folk, who offered little effective resistance to Japanese conquest."

It is certain that neither in Korea nor elsewhere in Asia has our conception of democracy or the idea of peace under law represented by the UN made any such progress as communism has made in winning the devotion of the masses."

Mr. Thomas goes on to consider communist techniques in the field of propaganda, and to describe some of the misconceptions that are felt about us in important circles abroad. Then he writes: "The best answer to these misconceptions is the propaganda of the deed, a steady and relentless effort to put our own house in order. But it is immediately legitimate and important to do a better job than we have done in presenting concretely facts about poverty in Russia, her complete lack of freedom, the extent and significance of Russian slave camps, the terrible thrall in which the Politburo holds science and art and religion and the exploitation of the satellite states by the Kremlin."

There are great difficulties here every man has a different idea of what should be done to put our own house in order. But it is certainly true that we must do a far better job than we have yet done in the war of ideas if we are to win real converts to our side and our cause.

IN AND ABOUT BETHEL

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Eames and son spent the week end with relatives in Wytopitlock. Bonnie and Lorraine Eames who have been visiting there several weeks, returned with them Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. David Heiland left for Westbrook Monday. Mrs. Heiland will visit in Westbrook while Mr. Heiland accompanies his son to Boston, where he expects to enter the Deaconess Hospital.

Phillips Brooks was advised last week that he has been awarded the position of relief agent on the St. Lawrence Division of the Canadian National Railways. The territory covered by this assignment takes in all stations Portland, Maine, to Norton, Vt., and also stations in New York state handled by this company.

Nathan Ellery Mills and son, Gordon Mills, of Auburn were calling on relatives and friends in Bethel and Mason Wednesday. N. E. Mills was born in Mason 85 years ago, the son of Nathan and Mary Elizabeth Gordon Mills, and enjoys an occasional trip to his native town, but finds very few old time friends now to greet him. The old farm places have changed, fire has burned some homes and the "Old Church" on the hill has been torn down and its timbers transported to other "far away places." Truly Time Marches On.

COMMITTEE SEEKS 100% REGISTRATION OF VOTERS

John L. Baxter of Brunswick, owner of one of Maine's leading canning plants, has been appointed as chairman of the Maine Citizenship Committee. The Committee, a non-partisan organization, is composed of leaders in church, trade, veterans and civic organizations throughout the state. At present the committee is aiming at a 100% registration of voters in the State of Maine.

A committee spokesman said that a recent registration survey conducted throughout the state has revealed some shameful figures. In these troubled times, when America needs the support of every one of its citizens, better than 40% of every four of the eligible voters in Maine are not even registered to vote. And, even worse, 32% of every 100 persons who were registered to vote failed to cast a ballot in the 1948 elections. There has been a steady decrease in the number of voters since 1933 while the population has steadily increased. You must agree that it is time something was done about this situation.

The committee has asked all eligible citizens in the state to add their names to this drive. It is appealing to the citizens of Maine by means of a radio, newspaper, direct mail drive to register and vote.

This committee is supported by contributions from men and women who are the need for democracy at the polls in the State of Maine.

AUSTRALIA AND THE UNITED STATES

The following editorial recently appeared in the Sydney, Australia, Daily Telegraph:

"If the gentlemen in Canberra have the vaguest idea of this nation's best interest, they will announce that Australia will support the hard-pressed Americans in Korea with a division of land troops and more fighting planes. The reasons should be obvious to every Australian who remembers how we felt in 1941 when this country lay wide open to invasion. If the Americans are swept out of Korea and Formosa, the Russian front will be triumphant throughout Asia. Whatever friends we have still on the Asiatic continent will desert us. Then Australia will be far out on a lonely limb.

"What saved us from battle on our soil and conquest in the last war except American help. Can we expect similar help again if we let the Koreans murder Americans in another Dunkirk without doing everything we can? The Americans are closely watching all the peoples who have given flowery lip service to the UN and have received in return generous US aid. If they sit on the sidelines now while Americans die in an outnumbered struggle, many Americans will argue that they would be wiser to spend their money on themselves and let the rest of the world sink. That might be a foolish, emotional reaction, but it would be understandable.

"We are told that some British people enjoy the spectacle of Americans fighting while Britain for once is at peace. That is a stupid satisfaction. For only one thing keeps Britain or any of us at peace at this moment that is Russia's fear of American industrial strength backing up a solid British-American front. They would have their happiest day of all time at the Kremlin if the Korean struggle ended with Americans feeling that Britain and her dominions had let Americans down. For that would damage the only military and political combination which may draw a line to Russian ambitions. To forestall this slow and the best of the British Commonwealth must give as generously as we expect Americans to give when we are in difficulties. This is a moment for action which counts only the merit of our deed."

* LOW DOWN FROM * HICKORY GROVE *

More and more, we look like Europe. But we talk loud of "freedom"—listen to speeches, coast to coast. Everybody is for freedom—it is unanimous. But as a little innocent sample, you go to work and discover a likely looking rifle in some creek and figure you are free to go about putting in a water-wheel and dynamo for turning out some kilowatts, you will learn something about freedom.

Even if it is your very own savings that you will spend on the creek—your very own do-re-mi—you will not proceed. You must ask the Govt., just as it is in Europe. Europe tells its citizens where to get on and off—it makes its socialist kilowatts, it runs the telephone, the railroads, Europe, that is—what chooses to go to Europe.

Too many good citizens up and down our Main Streets—and elsewhere—are not scanning our Govt. road map. The flowery speeches on "freedom" have allured us—the Govt. itself has grabbed the freedoms—we hold the bag. Look at the 3 men at Morristown, Tennessee, and their dwindling freedom. They thought they could work where they chose. They were ambushed—shot. Freedom to work for how much, and for what outfit, is a filthy sham in our own USA—now. Yours with the low down, JO SERRA

Two to One

Although Defense Secretary Johnson was successful in reducing civilian employment in the Military Establishment from 897,807 employees in May, 1949, to 754,339 on May 31, 1950, there still remained one civilian employee to every two uniformed men in the services. Both the Byrd Committee and the Hoover Commission have criticized this ratio as too high.

When Government Runs a Business

The two giant enterprises in the communications field in this country are the Bell Telephone System and the United States Post Office Department. The privately owned Bell System paid $346,144,000 in taxes last year, while the Post Office Department, of course, paid none. The Bell System operated at a substantial profit, while the Postal Service incurred an operating loss of $577,474,000. The total value of all physical properties owned by the Bell System is reported at $9 1/2 billions. The Post Office Department has no idea whatever of the value of its vast property holdings.

Nobody's Business

Since last week we have received from "a friend," a letter for publication in this column. It is generally known that newspapers are not likely to publish anonymous contributions and this is no exception. However, the theme of this note was of some importance, especially to its writer, as it contained a threat directed at persons believed to be guilty of breaking the seventh commandment.

Knowing nothing of the circumstances, we are reminded again of the very real danger to human lives which "stalks our streets" in the form of idle gossip. It happens all too often that last shred of happiness is wrung from an innocent person, when they learn of the rumors which men and women have listened to and watched grow without the slightest attempt to stop. It is quite likely that if the suspicions and hopes of some of us were never uttered it would be just as well.

GOLD REUNION

Francis Mills, 1912, held open house for eleven members of the class of 1912 and 1913 and their ten guests at his summer cottage, Mountview, on Magog Pond, Sunday, August 20. In spite of the rain two mothers of class members made special effort to attend this reunion of former students in which they have kept a lively interest through the years. Mrs. Corrie Bartlett, 91, came with her son, Urban and Mrs. Grace Swan, 83, with her daughter, Edith Swan. The buffet luncheon consisted of cold roast turkey, salad, fruit and coffee served by the host and amply supplemented by the contributions of generous friends. Good food and plenty of conversation had always made day-to-day life.

Wilbur Cox, Remington Marksman

COX, EXHIBITION SHOOTER AT BRYANT POND THURSDAY

Wilbur Cox, Remington Marksman, will demonstrate shooting ability at Howe Field, Bryant Pond, Thursday, August 24, at 4 p. m.

Demonstrating all types of shotguns, rifles and pistols, Mr. Cox does some exceedingly spectacular shooting which keeps the audience keyed up to the highest. He converts heads of cabbage thrown into the air into cole-slaws, crashes small blocks of wood into bits, explodes oranges grapefruit and potatoes and does it all with such graceful ease that extremely difficult shots appear simple.

The shooting ability of the Remington expert is more than an exhibition of marksmanship. It is an example of what constant practice will accomplish. Mr. Cox is not a "gunner" and considers that no one else is. "It is not particularly difficult to shoot well," he says. "It requires concentration and coordination of mind, nerve and muscle, but that is not so exceedingly hard to do if one will try and then try some more. Constant practice will take care of that. Anyone who is serious about marksmanship will find that they become second nature to him after a while. Then he will begin to notice a marked improvement in his shooting."

Concentration is a definite must if one wants to excel in competitive shooting, whether it be at the traps, on the skeet field or pistol and rifle ranges. In these sports the shooter should consider every shot a match. If he misses a target he should immediately forget it and concentrate on the next one. Erring about a mistake won't erase it. Thinking about a missed target has often upset a shooter to such an extent that his timing has gone all wrong and he blows a couple more. This makes him so jittery that he couldn't hit a barn door with a bass fiddle. . . . and he's out of the race. Just forget about the one that got away and concentrate on the next one. But don't forget to practice at every opportunity."

In his demonstration Mr. Cox uses a number of shotguns in various gauges and several rifles of different types and calibers.

Mr. Cox's exhibition will be through the courtesy of the Remington Arms Company, Inc., and under the sponsorship of Mt. Abram Fish and Game Association, Inc. No admission is charged and the public is invited.

The double ring ceremony was performed at three o'clock by the Rev. Thomas J. W. Cornish of Presque Isle, assisted by the Rev. Herbert Balcone of Portage. The church was attractively decorated with summer flowers, including larkspur, peonies and roses.
